

George F. Page Sr.

August 7, 1951 - April 9, 2023

Mr. George Floyd Page, Sr., was born to the late Imogene and George Page on August 7, 1951, at John Gaston Hospital in Memphis, Tennessee.

George accepted Christ at an early age and later became a member of Greater St. Thomas Baptist Church. He served as the choir director for many years until he was ordained as a deacon where he served until his health failed.

George began his work career with Baptist Memorial Hospital as a transporter and later becoming an x-ray technician. He worked there for thirty-plus years until he retired.

George is survived by his current wife, Ruthie Page (Carolyn Elaamri, stepdaughter).

George was preceded in death by his first wife, Deneece L. Page, with whom their only son was born. He was also preceded in death by his twin brother, Robert Lloyd Page.

Mr. George Floyd Page, Sr., leaves to cherish his memory, his loving and devoted son, George Floyd Page, Jr.; loving and devoted daughter-in-love, Katrina Page; grandchildren, Breuna Johnese Davis, George Floyd Page, III, and Trinity Deneece Page, and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends.
